Wolfpack hopes for winning season

The Copiah-Lincoln Community College Wolves hope this season to make the state playoffs as they did in 1988 and 1989.

However, with only two starters returning to the team this fall, there are a lot of yards between hope and realization.

Offensive tackle Mike Smith of Ocala, Fla., and defensive back Andrew Leverette of Americus, Ga., provide the first-hand experience from last year's nationally ranked squad.

Head Football Coach Randall Bradberry said, "We'll be depending on a lot of freshman talent this year."

Bradberry, who was an assistant of defensive coordinator/offensive back coach in 1988 and 1989, is relying on his 14 years of coaching experience to help him tackle the head coach position. He served as head coach at East Mississippi Community College for 12 years before coming to Co-Lin.

Bradberry is filling the shoes of former head coach Ray Ishee, who is now the college's dean of students.

Ishee said of last year's team, "We had a heckuva year, but you can't look back."

Looking back to last season would see the Wolves lose a state-playoff heart-stopper to the Mississippi Delta Trojans. It was a see-saw battle throughout the entire game, with the score tied 21-21 at the half, 24-24 at the end of the third quarter, and then 34-31 with no time remaining.

Also, looking back would see the Co-Lin Wolves making the state playoffs for the fourth time in the last five years, with a state championship title tucked under their helmets in 1985.

Taking a look at this year's unpredictable season, Assistant Coach Charles Sutton said, "The offense looks good - we're throwing the ball well."

James Davis of Ferriday, La., is the sole sophomore quarterback on the team, with three freshmen standing in the wings. They are Allen Thomas of Barto, Fla., Tim Price of Hazlehurst, and Herman Moncrief of Prattville, Ala.

With a 1989 overall record of 9-2 hovering over them, Coach Bradberry and the 1990 Wolfpack are hoping to realize their own winning season and a berth in the November playoffs.

Co-Lin is fielding experienced team of cheerleaders for year

"Experienced" is the word used by cheerleader sponsor David Smith to describe this year's squad at Copiah-Lincoln Community College in Wesson.

Smith said, "There are over 50 years of combined cheering experience on the Co-Lin squad, and five of the seven females were head cheerleaders at their respective high schools."

Co-Lin head cheerleader Dawn Russell of Wesson agrees with Smith.

Russell said, "I was a member of this squad last year, and I can already tell that the 1990-91 group is going to be an improvement because of the experience and talent."

"Everyone works well together," she added.

The Co-Lin squad began getting ready for football season in late May, practicing mostly on weekends.

Russell said that practices usually involve working on cheers, chants, pyramids, partner stunts and dances.

"We had a camp this summer on campus where we learned our dances, two new cheers, and two or three chants," Russell said.

Also, according to Russell, there is more involved in cheerleading than just what the sports fans see at games.

She said, "We spend a lot of time making signs to hang around the football field and the gym, plus we hold pep rallies prior to the games and also sell ads for the football program as a fund raiser."

Members of the squad at Co-Lin are chosen through a tryout selection process in which outside cheerleaders and sponsors, usually from senior colleges, come in and rate candidates on score sheets. Scores are given in areas such as enthusiasm, voice, cheering form and gymnastic ability.

However, male members of the squad go through an interview process and are judged on their ability to lift the female cheerleaders and on their personalities.

Sponsor Smith said that both the males and females are recruited from area high schools all.

"We usually rotate the basketball games that are not on campus, with half of the squad attending one and then the others going to the next one," she said.

Cheerleaders also receive a $250 tuition scholarship each semester for their efforts.

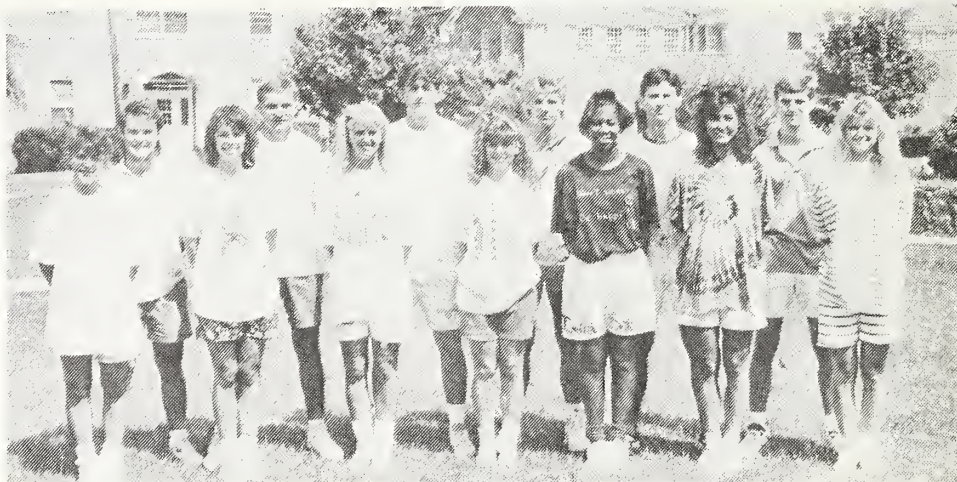

"The hardest part of being a cheerleader," according to Russell, "is traveling to the far off games, and the best thing about it is seeing everybody in Co-Lin's seven-county district, especially if cheerleaders from certain schools express an interest."

Co-Lin cheerleaders are required to attend all football games and most basketball games.

Russell explained, "Sometimes we get too many basketball games in one week that are far away, and we can't make them working together."

The Co-Lin squad consists this year of seven females, seven males, and one mascot.

They are Deanna Smith, Dawn Russell, Lance Case, mascot, and Lane Smith, all of Wesson; Amy Hart and Clay Rich, both of Brookhaven; Chad Savage and Jennifer Patrick, both of Mendenhall; Shane Tuttle and Scott Ham, both of Natchez; Sandy Duncan, Monticello; Casey Carlton, Hazlehurst; India Hunter, Loyd Star; and Tim Tindle, Meadville.

Copiah-Lincoln Community College's Blue Wave Marching Band is "very strong talent wise," according to director Stanley Stewart who is in his 21st year leading the group.

Stewart said, "I'm very pleased with this year's members - they are very cooperative and are learning extremely fast."

The 1990 Blue Wave Marching Band is 104 members strong, with 40 horns, five bass drums, four snare drums, two quads, three cymbals, six mallet auxiliary percussionists, 20 color guard, 18 Colettes, one drum major, and five managers.

Stewart and his band are opening their fall show with what he calls some "old Chicago music," including such hits as "Color My World," "Make Me Smile," and "Does Anybody Really Know What Time It Is?"

This medley is followed by a little 1960's flavor with "Quarter To Three," and a "Toccata" drum solo shows off the percussion section with an arrangement of music by Johann Sebastian Bach. Stewart said some of the crowd may remember this as being used in the early 1970's by Emerson, Lake, and Palmer.

An Alice Cooper tune titled "School's Out For The Summer" is next and backed up by an old Beach Boys' song "Sloop John B."

Stewart said changes will be made in the band's show throughout the football season. Other music added will include an old Billy Preston song "Will It Go Round In Circles," a big band tune "Sing, Sing, Sing," and a Dixieland piece "That's A Plenty."

"I try to have the band perform as close as possible to a drum and bugle corp format," Stewart said, adding, "The drill design is this type format."

Stewart said he couldn't stress enough how harmonious this year's group is.

He said, "Everyone is getting along with each other really well, especially in the hot practicing conditions they've endured."

"They've been working in conditions even the postman wouldn't attempt," he added.

Lady Wolves shoot for another good year

The 1989-90 basketball season proved to be an exceptional one for the Lady Wolves, with the team compiling a 26-3 overall record.

The final national junior/community college women's basketball poll had the Lady Wolves ranked ninth, and during the year they reached the No. 3 spot.

When looking at other impressive statistics, the team not only captured the regular season south conference title, but also won the south division tournament.

After making a state tournament appearance, Coach Gwyn Young and his squad finished as runners-up in the Region 23 tournament to champion Northwest.

In the final minute of that March 8th contest, Co-Lin couldn't get the ball to fall through the net and missed five straight field goal attempts.

Coach Young said, "Our outside shooting was horrible - we just couldn't score."

The team that should have ended up with a berth in the national tournament did, however, produce some outstanding basketball throughout the season from players such as Louisiana State signee Tara Curtis and Livingston State signee Nikita Harry.

Post player Curtis was named All-American, all-region, and all-state, plus making an appearance in the Mississippi Junior/Community College All-Star Game. Harry, too, was named all-state and regional, while also playing in the all-star game.

1989-90 standout freshmen, who worked alongside Curtis and Harry, were Tangela Jones (second team all-state) and Shannon Montgomery (honorable mention all-state).

Both Jones and Montgomery have returned to Co-Lin for the 1990-91 season, along with Renee Barnes and Laurie Williams.

Co-Lin's roster this season lists the names of nine freshmen who will prove valuable to Coach Young and the team.

Kim Herrin, a 5'6" guard, and Melissa Upkins, a 5'8" forward, have joined the squad after playing high school roundball for Bogue Chitto Coach Ronald Gill.

West Lincoln 5'7" guard Jill Coon of Enterprise and 5'11" post player Anita Benton of Mendenhall will see action this fall. Also recruited from Coach M.D. Deer's Lady Tigers, is 5'11" forward/center Pam Johnson of Mendenhall.

Post player Beth Edwards, 5'10", a Franklin County recruit who came to the Co-Lin district by way of Sante Fe High School in Texas, rounds out the list of seven-county area freshmen.

Forward/post player Denise Warren of Salmen High School in Louisiana is a welcomed out-of-state signee, standing at 5'9". Pam Johnson, a 5'8" forward from Block High School in Louisiana, also crosses the state line to join the Lady Wolves.

The Lady Wolves are again this season pursuing that final goal of making it to the national tournament, a goal realized by the 1988-89 Lady Wolves and one almost obtained by last season's squad.

However, according to Coach Young, his team must first make a good showing in the regular season - something his is confident the 1990-91 squad is capable of doing.

....Back To The Top

After losing all five starters (one an All-American) and eight of the top 10 players from the 1988-89 state championship team, most coaches would have been happy with 19 wins at the end of a rebuilding season like that of 1989-90.

However, that doesn't hold true for Wolves' Coach Paul Johnson who said of his 1989-90 team, "I don't think we played up to our potential."

When Johnson mentions "not playing up to potential" he is remembering the four games the Wolves lost in overtime that "we should have won."

He said, "To win in a community college league you must be mentally tough and mentally strong not only to win, but to win the close ones."

"We don't really set goals involving actual numbers of games we should win, but we should try to use the potential we have," he added.

While Johnson did expect more, the Wolves did have another good season when looking at statistics, beating state champion Hinds two out of three times the teams met. Co-Lin also advanced to the Region 23 tournament before losing to Mississippi Gulf Coast, the region champion.

Looking to the 1990-91 season, Johnson said the Wolfpack has added some outstanding recruits.

"Along with the returning players, we should have the blend needed to form another solid team," he said.

Height will also figure positively into the formation of a 'solid' team.

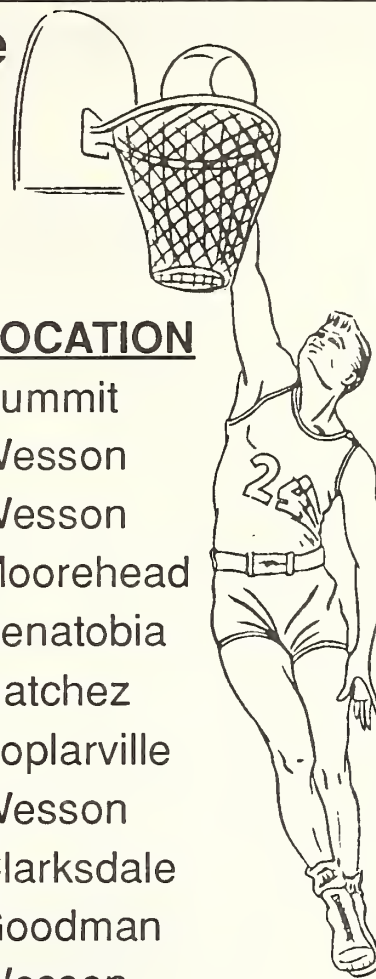

Johnson said that this year's squad will be one of the tallest ever for the college with eight players standing over 6'6".

Baseball....Wolves on comeback trail after tough spring season

In 1989-90, Co-Lin's ever-improving baseball team was knocked down a few notches, ambushed by academic problems and injuries. Ten players, including seven pitchers, were lost during the year, leaving the Wolves desperately short-handed. To their credit, the remaining squad competed admirably well, despite posting only a 14-28 record. Included were 14 losses by two runs or less.

All was not lost, however, as the scrappy Wolves produced numerous highlights during the year. They opened the season with a doubleheader sweep of eventual state and region champion Mississippi Delta, banging out 31 hits in the 9-4 and 17-7 wins.

Next, the Wolves took the season series against Hinds, winning 3 out of 4 games against the defending region champs. Also, the local favorites rattled the fences with six home runs in sweeping a doubleheader from Kishwaukee College, yearly ranked among the nation's top teams. The Wolves now own a three-game winning streak against the Kougars from Malta, Illinois.

Statistically, the Wolves produced a .285 team batting average. Leading the way was center fielder Victor Keyes at .377, followed by Truman Holland, .346, Chris Mire, .343, and Matt Riebock, .336. Mire was the most productive Wolf, leading the team in six offensive categories: at bats (137), hits (47), doubles (8), home runs (6), RBI's (39); and slugging percentage (.533).

At season's end, Mire received numerous accolades, being named to the All-South Division, All-State, and All-Region 23 teams.

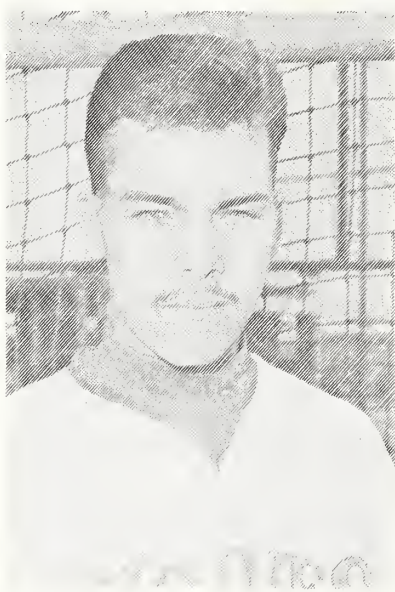

The first baseman from Lake Charles, La., returns to lead the Wolves this year. Also being named to the All-South Division team were Keyes, and pitcher Dyron Morris, who was the team ERA leader at 3.15.

For 1990-91, head coach Steve Blackmon welcomes back six sophomores. Along with Mire, Holland also returns, giving the Wolves two of their top hitters from last year.

Also returning are shortstop-pitcher Joey Landry, third baseman Matt McGhee, and pitchers Trae James and Jody Herring, both left handers. Herring will be making a comeback after undergoing shoulder surgery in the summer.

The Wolves were stung in mid-summer by the loss of catcher Jimmy Shorter. A returning starter behind the plate, Shorter has moved on to the senior college ranks, signing with Nicholls State.

Two other Wolves also signed with senior colleges during the summer - Keyes going to Mississippi College, and Morris with Grambling State University.

Sophomore first baseman Christ Mire of Lake Charles, La., returns to lead this year's team. During the '90 spring season, Mire was named all-south division, all-state, and all-Region 23, plus leading the Wolves in six offensive categories including at bats, hits, doubles, home runs, RBI's, and slugging percentages.

Tennis team volleys into new year with state/regional title, and national ranking

The Copiah-Lincoln Wolves tennis team recently became the first Mississippi squad to finish in the "Top Ten" at the NJCAA men's nationals. The Wolves capped off a second consecutive perfect season (24-0, 51 straight dual match victories since April of 1988) with a ninth place finish in the team competition hosted by Tyler JC in Tyler, TX.

"We're very proud of the fact that our #9 national ranking was the highest finish of any non-scholarship school," stated Coach Mike McIntyre.

"For a number of years now, we've felt that we have had a 'Top 10' program at Co-Lin. We finished 15th at the '88 nationals playing with a partial squad (two members were unable to make the trip)," McIntyre said.

In '89 Co-Lin dropped to 17th at Tyler when a stomach virus hit three of the top players.

The '90 tournament began on a very tragic note with Brian Porter's brother being fatally injured in an auto accident back home near his Pattison home.

After Porter flew back home to be with his family of the first day of the tournament, Richard Panzica did a great job of filling in for his teammate in the #6 singles position. Panzica picked up two victories at #6 -- making a valuable contribution to the "Top 10" finish in Tyler.

Co-Lin got points from every player on the team.

Sophomore Chris Giordano of New Orleans knocked off a seeded player in the first round of #1 singles before falling in the second round. Freshman Corey Verrett of Morgan City, La., picked up a first round straight-set win before being eliminated by a seeded player in the #2 singles flight.

Sophomore Mike McCann of Thibodaux, La., picked up one team point in a straight-set win in the first round in #4 singles, before losing a heart-stopping third-set tie-breaker in the second round.

Freshman Wyatt Sharp of Natchez earned two points in #5 singles before being eliminated by a seeded player in the third round.

McCann and sophomore Vincent Ross of Natchez earned the Wolves remaining two points (Co-Lin collected a total of nine team points, a record for a Mississippi school in national competition) by fighting their way to the third round of #2 doubles before being eliminated by the national champions for the flight.

"Our 'Top 10' finish was a total team effort!" McIntyre stated.

What are the prospects for the Wolves in '91?

McIntyre hopes that his 13th season will not be an unlucky one. Even though he has a career won-loss record of 182-17, five state championships, four regional titles, and a string of 51 consecutive dual match wins under his belt, McIntyre is cautious about making predictions for '91.

"We lost some of the best tennis players who ever played for Copiah-Lincoln. You just don't run out and grab up players like Giordano, McCann, and Ross -- they don't come along every year. You're not always lucky enough to stumble on to a player with as much untapped potential as Panzica," McIntyre said.

Co-Lin hopes to be competitive in '91, but a lot will depend on what McIntyre likes to call the "out-of-the-blue" factor.

Recruiting is very difficult in a non-scholarship sport--even in a program which has had a good measure of national exposure in recent years. Some of the very best players have come out of the blue, often enrolling in the middle of the year.

Giordano, Ross, and Joel Lessley ('88 #1 singles state champ) were all mid-year recruits.

Another factor which has contributed to the success of Co-Lin's program has been the ability to take good athletes with limited tennis experience and "build 'em from the ground up," McIntyre explained.

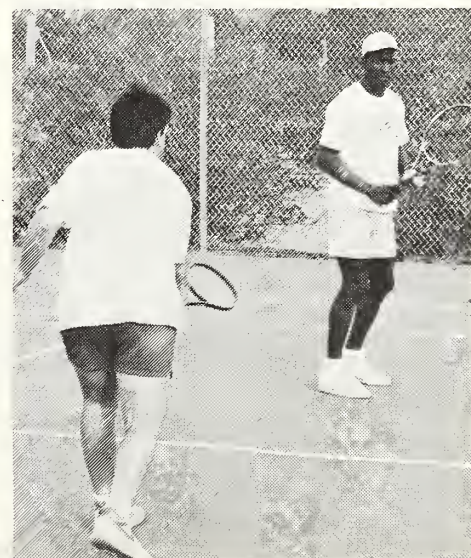

Since the college has a year-round program, it can turn out some good players (who have the desire) by shaping their games day by day.

The Wolves will be relying heavily upon the skills and experience of returners Verrett (#2 singles and #1 doubles state/regional champ), Sharp (#5 singles state/regional champ), and Porter (#6 singles state/regional champ).

Tyson Nelson of Monticello, who participated in the '89-90 fall program, along with several freshman recruits will be called upon to fill some very large sneakers for '91.

Co-Lin's Golf Course

Copiah-Lincoln Community College takes pride in offering special activities not only to its students, but also to members of the community.

Co-Lin's golf course offers nine holes of fun and competition to anyone who is interested in the game. The course is also the only nine hole public golf facility between Jackson and New Orleans, La.

Each week the college hosts a scramble at the course, and special tournaments such as the annual homecoming competitions for men and women are scheduled.

Operating hours are 8 a.m. until dark, Monday through Saturday, and 12 noon until dark on Sunday.

For more information on the golf course, call 643-5101, ext. 379. Golf course manager is Alton Greenlee.

White places 8th in nation

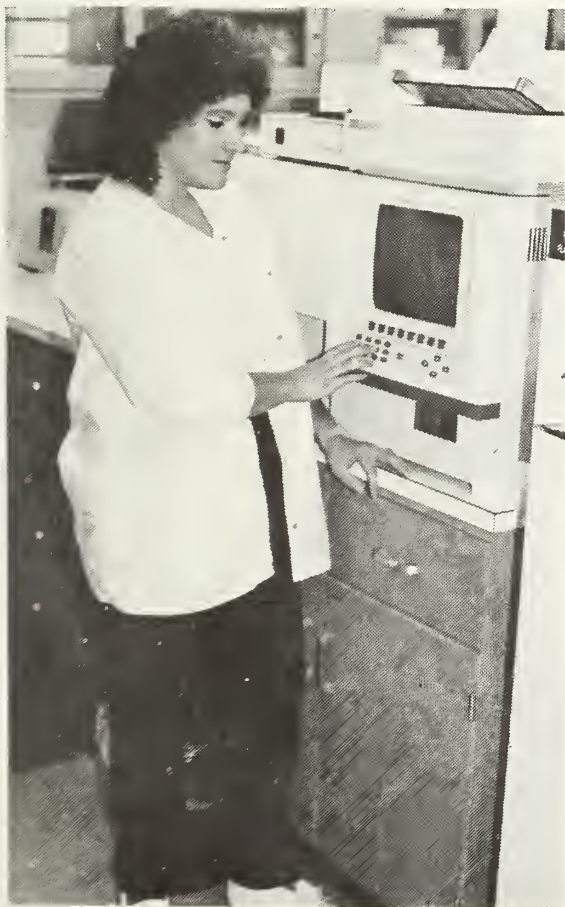

Brad White of Copiah-Lincoln Community College placed eighth in the NJCAA National Golf Tournament, posting a four-round total of 313. Teammate David McLendon fell out of contention after two rounds and finished at 334.

Coach Alton Greenlee of Co-Lin said White and McLendon did remarkably well under adverse conditions. "These kids were under a tremendous amount of pressure. The heat and mental fatigue were terrific. Our kids did a good job."

White, a sophomore from Brookhaven, was fifth after two rounds at 76-76 - 152 but shot a closing round of 80-81. McLendon, a freshman from Mendenhall, was tied for 15th (78-81 - 159) after two rounds but shot 85 Thursday and 90 on Friday.

The tournament was played at the McCormick Ranch Resort, using the Pine and Palm courses, both par-72 layouts in Arizona.

White's performance earned him second team All-American honors. A bogey on the final hole kept him from making the first team.
